We are doing business within booking and selling advertisement to companies. We have tested everything on the market and all CRM systems are tardy and slow, and little focus on what's important and that is the sale, and monitoring of the customers. NextCom is clearly made by salespeople for salespeople. In the insurance industry where I was in the past was characterized by crm system that was focused on measuring or monitoring the activity of the sellers, so that the management would be able to report activity and sales. It may seem like a small nuance difference, but NextCom is designed for salespeople, so they can achieve as much sales as possible, and close monitoring of the customers. Combined with good statistics and a superb follow-up of customers, then this is the best CRM system I've tried, and I can confidently recommend it further. You will make money on this system, test it out today!

Best Regards,

Roger Lillefosse
