NextCom has provided an important competitive advantage for TalkPro in our startup phase. Their system is a core of their delivery. NextCom`s business understanding made us confident in the choice of supplier. He has been involved in our business and this has been important for us.

TalkPro`s vision is "Talk to me" and we experienced that NextCom`s way to interact with us helps greatly in this respect. Our 3 strategies are; efficiency, product leadership and growth - without NextCom`s solution it would have taken us an unreasonably long time to implement our strategies effectively into our business. Our interest groups have only good feedback on the system and this makes us confident in relation to our growth ambitions.

The system is innovative in the way it is distributed, but they also afford functional capabilities that we did not know existed in the market. We look forward to further cooperation with NextCom and Thomas Bjørnstad in connection with our growth ambitions and our need for structural capital.
